CANADIAN MINING AND METALLURGICAL FOUNDATION (CMMF)

The Canadian Mining and Metallurgical Foundation (CMMF) was founded in 1972, and is a non-profit charitable organization dedicated to promoting and supporting education as well as best practices in the many facets of the mining world. Through a variety of activities and programs, the Foundation promotes mining as an enviable career option to students from all levels — from primary school to university. Although a separate legal entity from the Canadian Institute of Mining, Metallurgy and Petroleum (CIM), the CMMF was established and continues to be funded by CIM members who have been very generous over the years.

CMMF programs and initiatives

During 2010, CMMF continued to support scholarships to attract and support students and universities as well as technical schools; events featuring world-renowned speakers such as the CIM Distinguished Lecturers Program; Mining for Society (M4S), a CIM initiative that builds awareness of the mining industry's importance in our daily lives, and its dedication to the environment and innovation; educational programs on mining in public schools, including Prospectors and Developers Association of Canada's (PDAC) Mining Matters and the Mineral Resources Education Program of BC (MRBC); fostering relationships between student chapters and CIM branches.

New in 2010

In 2010 CMMF launched its first newsletter to keep donors informed on how their funds are being used; a "Giving Campaign" to all CIM members requesting their support; a "Gifts of Securities" donation form, which provides a vehicle for special tax saving incentives for donors through the transfer of shares and flowthrough shares; a communications program, providing information to the media — including press releases about scholarship recipients — targeting school and community newspapers; and the McIntosh Engineering Scholarships.
