

CMMF Manager Receives Queen Elizabeth Diamond Jubilee Medal

Federal MP Francis Scarpaleggia presented the Queen Elizabeth II Diamond Jubilee Medal to CMMF manager Deborah Smith-Sauvé for her leadership and volunteer contributions to many charitable organizations, and for her dedication to the not-for-profit and humanitarian sectors. A selection committee reviewed a 50-page nomination submission presented by community leaders and professionals from across Canada who had witnessed different facets of her career. The submission also included a section about the CMMF mineral card project that she initiated and is now developing as a resource tool for Canadian students. The cards are available in English, French and Inuktitut (Inuit syllabics) at www.cmmf72.org/en/mineral-card-project. During the ceremony, it was noted that Smith-Sauvé served the youth, including Aboriginal youth, in the areas of education and community service for over 30 years. The theme for the Queen's medal was Service to Others.